Dan Evans

Sen Dan Evans (R-Wash) said that it is time to care more about the quality of education and the training of teachers in our public schools.

"The heart of a quality education is a good teacher," said Evans to a group of students,faculty and administrators at Western Washington University.

But we must offer our teachers more financial incentives and better training to obtain the quality teaching we need in schools."

Evans said another important ingredient for the improvement of education in our country is the need for parents, citizens, local state and federal government to care more abouth the quality of education in our schools.

"It ultimately will be the care and concern of people, not machines that will create the environment in schools to prepare or children for a lifetime of learning ,"Evans concluded.

Jackson Seeks Nomination For President

Jesse Jackson

Rev. Jessie Jackson says he will seek the bid for the 1984 Democratic Presidential nomination for President.

He will be the first black major party Presidential Candidate.

The civil rights leader said he is running for the 1984 Demcratic nomination because blacks have an investment in the Democratic Party, and we want a return on our investment.

Sunday, in a speech at Morehouse College in Atlanta and in a taped television interview, Jackson said he would formally announce his candiacy on Thursday.

We have a dual mission he said. One part is to remove the repressive Regan regime. The other is to achieve parity.

"Our position has been that we have been an official candidate in the DEmocratic primaries

When asked if he would choose a woma as his running mate, he replied "There's no doubt about it.

The 42 year old Jackson, a disciple of slain civil rights leader Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. heads Operation Push, a chicago based organization that concentrates on registering voters.

On the Grenada Invasion, Jackson said," The invasion took away our moral authority to challenge the same kind of behavior by te Soviet Union in Afghanistan and other areas.

"I suggest to you it was a gross error.

Jones Not Happy With Evans Or Lowry

Has the issue of agriculture been left out of this year's senatorial campaign in Washington State?

Robert Jones, president of the Wash. State Farm Bureau, thinks it has.

Jones, a Grandview farmer, met with news media in three eastern Wash. cities to discuss the stand or lack thereof, that the state's two senatorial candiates have taken so far during this campaign on agriculture issues.

Jones told reporters that he and members of Farm Bureau are troubled that neither former Governor Dan Evans nor Mike Lowry have made any definite statements concerning their stand on viatal farm issues.

Growers also want to know how Evans will vote if congress tries to repeal a recent provision in the Commodity Trading Act which bars the federal Government from singling out agriculture and farm produce for political weapons in embargoes such as the controversial embargo on sales of grain to Russia.

Jones also voiced concern that agriculture interest are too often neglected when appointments are made to boards and councils whose decision directly affect Washington Farmers.

HAVE YOU BELIEVED OUR REPORT?
Series #1 Part 12
Isaiah 53rd chapter 1st & 2nd verses
Who hath believed our report and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

THE LORD WILL PROVIDE
Genesis, Chp. 26, Verses 1-5
And there was a famine in the land, beside the first famine that was in the days of Abraham. And Isac went unto Abimelech king of the Philistines unto Gerar.

And the Lord appeared unto him, and said, Go not down into Egypt; dwell in the land which I shall tell thee of:

Sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bless thee; for unto thee, and unto thy seed, I will give all these countries, and I will perform the oath which I sware unto Abraham thy father;

And I will make thy seed to multiply as the stars of heaven, and will give unto thy seed all these countries; and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed;

Because that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws.

Genesis, Chp. 22, Verse 12&13
And he said, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou any thing unto him: for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou hast not withheld thy son, thine only son from me.

And Abraham lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns: and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt offering in the stead of his son.

PRISONER'S CORNER

In an effort to keep our reades informed, Tacoma Facts will be publishing PRISONER"S CORNERS", A weekly article from the Prisoner's themselves However the opinions are not neccessarily those of the Publisher.

Subsequently, it has come to light that there is "a pattern" set by motion designed by prison authority and administrative level of management of the department of corrections, division of prisons, community services division and Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, to deprive, deny, extend, delay, circumvent and generally, subvert any and all opportunity for Black's and other minorities to utilize any meaningful prison program or paroles an work release facilities and early release program being implement the Department of Corrections, Division of Prisons and Community Services Division of the State of Washington.

This information was brought to light by the Hon. George Fleming, State Senator from the 37th dist. of Seattle, WA.

Also, was confirmed by the chairman of the State's Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, Mr. William Henry, and have thereby, being the result of the State Senator, Hon. George Fleming, to call for an "investigation" of the discriminatory and repugnancy practice by the State of Washington's Executive officers, administrative officers, the middle management-level and prison administrators, to show cause and effect why such discriminatory practice exist within the Department of Corrections for the State of Washington against Black's and other minority prisoners of the State of Washington.

The disproportionate levels at every meaningful opportunity to demonstrate ones self as being useful, functional, productive, responsible and meaningful sort of individual is being denied to Black prisoners and other minorities for racist, personal, vindictive and discriminatory reason by the prison officials, administrative level prison authorities and executive's level of the Institutions Department for criminally committed person of the State of Washington, except for placing into overcrowing prisons, in cells and in every in humane conditions that exist within the frame work of the prisons capacity that require a limit capacity.

We're disproportionatre in "early parole release", we're disproportionate in work/training rlease programs, we're disproportionate in paroles and we're disproportionate in treatment, understanding and considerations of finding meaningful alternatives to truly alter past criminal behaviors toward being responsible, functional, productive, useful and meaningful sort of persons upon our eventual release and readjustment and transition back into free society a trustworthy and law abiding citizen of the State of Washington.

This is our (Black) prisoners hope, wish, and desire, thank you.

Our best of Wishes, I am in God's Love
Sincerely,
Ross Furlow

PROVERBS 28.

The wicket flee when no man pursueth but the righteous are as bold as a lion.

For the trangression of a land many are the princes thereof: but a wise man of understanding and knowledge the state thereof shall be prolinged.

A poor man that oppresseth the poor is like a sweeping rain leaveth no food.

They that forsake the law praise the wicket, but such as keep the law contend with them.

Evil men understand not judgement: but they that seek the Lord understand all things.

Better is the poor that walketh in his uprighteous, than he that is perverse in his ways: though he be rich.

Whoso keepeth the law is a wise son: but he that is a companion of riotous men shameth his father.

He that by usuary and unjust gain increaseth his substance. he shall gather it for him that will pity the poor.

He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer shall be abomination.

Whoso causeth the righteoue to go astray in an evil way, he shall fall himself into his own pit: but the upright shall have good things in possession.

The rich man is wise in his own conceit: but the poor that hath understanding searcheth im out.

When the righteous men do rejice, ther is great glory: but when the wicketh rise, a man is hidden.

He that coverth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confessed and forsaketh them shall have mercy.

Happy is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart shall fall into mischief prolonged

As a roaring lion, and a raging bear, so is a wicket ruler over the poor people.

The prince that wanteth understanding is also a great oppresor: but he that hateth covetousness shall prolong his days.

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

Citizen Committee For School Facilities

A new timeline and the reestablishment of the public hearings have been put into place by the Citizen Committee for School Facilities planning.

The timeline calls for the committee to submit the working copy draft to the Tacoma School Board on Dec.1st at a noon study section, and for the public hearings to be held the following week.

Those hearings will begin at 7:30 p.m. each evening, with the first one on Dec.5th.

The 26 member Citizen Committee was organized by the Tacoma School Board last November in an effort to revied the district 57 school buildings and to develop a long range school facilities plan.

To All Family Fitness Members

FAMILY FITNESS CENTERS, THE LARGEST OPERATOR OF HEALTH CLUBS IN THE STATE, HAS SIGNED A CONSENT DECREE PROVIDING FOR AN EXTENSIVE CONSUMER RESTITUTION PROGRAM, ATTORNEY GENERAL KEN EIKENBERRY ANNOUNCED TODAY.

Family Fitness Centers, the largest operator of health clubs in the state, has signed a consent decree providing for an extensive consumer restitution program, Attorney General Ken Eikenberry announced today.

The firm also has agreed to halt sales practices which the Attorney General alledges are unfair and deceptive.

Under the consent decree, FFc personnel are not allowed to discourage the use of special or gift memberships or to disallow them if the consumer does not purchase a full membership; cannot misrepresent the facilities, services or terms of the contract; and cannot use harassment or intimidation when collecting on membership contracts.

FFC also must offer each new member a 72-hour cancellation period.

The restitution program provides refunds and cancellation of membership contracts to members who qualify. It also applies to former members of Everett European Health Spa and Northgate Lady Fitness Center, which FFC took over and closed shortly thereafter.

Eikenberry said his office will administer the restitution program. Members who would like to be considered for restitution must request a claim form from the A.G's office by December 31.

A special telephone number has been set up to give information on this settlement. The number is (206) 464-6813, which operates with a taped message 24 hours a day. There is no charge for calling from within the Seattle local telephone area. Callers from other areas of the state can request the tape by dialing 1-800-551-4636 between noon and 5 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

Negotiations toward the consent decree began earlier this year after the Attorney General's Office prepared a lawsuit charging that Family Fitness made numerous misrepresentations about faacilities and services in its selling procedures; intentionally made it difficult for new members to cancel their contracts, and used illegal methods in collecting past due accounts.

The consent decree in this case has achieved for the consumers virtually everything we might have hoped to gain through a long, costly trial, "Eikenberry commented."

Included in the agreement are $525,000 in civil penalties, $400,000 of which are suspended on the condition that Famillly Fitness follows the restitution program. The remaining $125,000 will be reduced by the amount of restitution which FFC pays. In addition, the Attorney General's Office will receive $50,000 to cover costs and fees.

Child Care Center Opens

Another new beginning! A new child care resource is now available in downtown Tacoma. The "We Care Learning Center," located in the First Baptist Church at 902 Market Street, will provide affordable child care for working parents in the downtown Tacoma area. The Center is licensed for 32 children, between the ages of one and twelve.

The child care program has been funded through a 1983-84 City of Tacoma Community Development Block Grant. The grant is intended specifically for moderate and low-income families, but all incomes will be represented.

Fees will be based on family income with special consideration for single parent households

The Block Grant funding from the City was granted from Washington Women's Employment and Education (WWEE) alumnae and staff.

The WWEE program provides employment training and placement for females on public assistance. This highlly sussessful program has recognized that providing reasonable and quality day care is an essential need for successful job retention of workers.

The N E A Highest Funding Level

The N.E.A. Attains The Highest Appropriation

The Washington State Arts Alliance announces that both houses of national legislature have voted to fund the National Endowment for the Arts at a level of $162 million, a new high for the endowment.

This funding level is a signal to state and local governments as well as private sector funders that the arts are no longer to be considered the "orphan child" of the budget.

The arts are important to the people "back home" and therefore worthy of funding.

When I leave, there'll be a space for someone else to move in," she says. "I want to give a young person a chance to start out, just like I did so many years ago."

Alberta started her government career at age 22, earning $1,260 a year. Today, at age 63, she concludes her government service earning $33,704 as a supervisory accounting specialist. The Whole Truth About Double Marriages

By BISHOP C. H. MASON

Late BISHOP C. H. MASON
Founder Churches of God in Chris

Subject: "Let every Man or Woman have their own Husband or Wife." 1 Cor. 7: 2-3.

The Lord said in His Word, let every man have his own wife and every woman have her own husband. This will avoid fornication. To have your own wife or for the wife to have her own husband (1 Cor. 7:2, 3). If a believer has an unbelieving husband or husband has an unbelieving wife an unbelieving one departs from the believer: a brother or a sister are not under bondage in such cases, but God has called us to Peace. 1 Cor. 7:15. Now read from the first chapter to the fifteenth verse. Jesus said to the woman that He met at the well that had five husbands before she met Him: "Go call thy husband and come. It was at that time that she told the truth about her husband, that she did not have one. Jesus told her that she had told the truth, for she had had five, but the one she had at that time was not hers. John 4:5-19.

Now you women that have other women's husbands or men that are not yours, and husbands that have other men's wives will have to tell the truth when you meet Jesus. It may be at the well, or on your dying bed, but you will have to tell the truth. The Lord says let not the wife depart from her husband and let not the husband put away his wife, but if she depart let her remain unmarried or be reconciled to her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife. 1 Cor. 7:10-11. The Lord says that He hateth the putting away for one covereth violence with his barments. Mal. 2:14-16. John the Baptist lost his head by showing a King that he had another man's wife. Jesus said whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another committeth adultry against her and a woman shall put away her husband and be married to another, she committeth adultry. Mark 10:11, 12. Now if a man put away his wife and marry another, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another he committeth adultry and whoso marrieth her that is put away doth commit adultry. Matt. 19:9. O women, see that you do not despise the voice of God as did Herodias, for John was the voice of God. Matt. 3:3.. She had that Holy man killed so that she could go on and live with a man that was not lawful for her to have for she was another man's wife. Restore the other man his wife: this is God's command to all men. God plagued the King Pharoah and his household and land because of Abraham's wife in (Gen. 12:14 to 20 v.) Restore the man his wife. This God word to King Abimelech about Sarah, another man's wife. He is saying the same thing today. Is not the land today in trouble? This sin is some of the cause. Matt. 14:11. She turned her own daughter away from half of the wealth that was in the Kingdom of Herod to go with blood hands to meet God with nothing to satisfy her mother's wants to live with a man that was not hers. O how many women and men of today that are wanting to stop the voice of God and cut off the heads of the light that shows that it is not lawful for them to put away their wives and husbands and be married to another. Israel's leaders, Priests and Levites, had led them into this sin in the days of Ezra, but had to separate from these strange wives before they could move the curse that had taken them back in sin, and caused them to have lost their cities and great possessions. They had to give them up before they got back to God. See Ezra 9th chapter. What will the leaders make out of the Church of God if they follow up the lust of the flesh? But she that lives in pleasure is dead while she liveth. 1 Tim. 5:6. See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. Heb. 12:25.

Yours for the Truth as it is in Him.

C. H. MASON.

History

HISTORICAL SKETCHES FROM BISHOP C. H. MASON FOUNDER OF THE CHURCH OF GOD IN CHRIST

The turn of the twentieth century in America, brought the 1904 revival to America, which came from Europe, principally from the country of Wales. This great revival was of pentecostal fervor. Its emphasis like the charismatic movement of the 60's and 70's was on the Holy Spirit and the gifts of the Holy Ghost. When C. P. Jones and Bishop C. H. Mason, sought deeper religious life and left their traditional churches, they sought and obtained conversion and sanctification. However, it was Bishop C. H. Mason, who went further and attended the great revival in California, where men of every denomination and race were seeking the baptism of the Holy Ghost. The book titled "Another Wave Rolls In", by Frank Bartleman, Copyright 1962 talks of Elder W. J. Seymour, who was one of the leaders of this revival, that was interdenominational and interracial. They often refer to him as "brother Seymour" and record incidents such as "THE AZUSA STREET, where a colored sister spake in tongues." Elder Seymour, was the front runner and seemed to work well in white revival services during this spiritual awakening in America. Bishop Mason was there, his personal account often written in our historical documents gives us his own personal history of how he reacted in this great revival. His name is not mentioned in books that record these events in California, where many prominent white church men attended seeking what Bishop Mason and other preachers were seeking. Elder Seymour is more often mentioned in pentecostal periodicals because, he though black, was one on the scene and perhaps had received the baptism of the Holy Ghost before many of the white church leaders, thereby making him a great helper to his white brethren, who were yet seeking this gift.

"Brother Seymour" was recognized as the nominal leader in charge, but the book quotes, "we had no pope or hierarchy, we were brethren." "We had no human programme." "The Lord Himself was leading." "We had no priest", no class nor priest craft" wrote the author, "ANOTHER WAVE ROLLS IN", page 58-59. Bishop C. H. Mason was there and did receive the gift of the Holy Ghost, speaking in another tongue. They talked a lot about the gift of songs, singing in the spirit, the "Latter Rain," etc. All of these well known traits of Bishop Mason, his songs, his words of prayer, "Send the Latter Rain," all seemed to have been received in this experience in California. C. P. Jones did not go and did not receive the full blessing as did Bishop Mason, and of course they soon departed company. But, thank God Bishop C. H. Mason went a little further, receiving the Holy Ghost and established a church believing the same, the Church of God in Christ.

Reign Of Terror

President Leonard Spearman of Texas Southern University (TSU) narrowly escaped a Texas -styled political lynching, led by Democratic Governor Mark White. It was only when aroused students and alumni struck back and identified the problem as :blatant politics" did the Governor's forces fold.

But unlike Dr. Spearman, President Robert Randolph of Alabama State and President John A. Peoples, Jr. of Jackson State University (JSU) have fallen victim to a reign of terror that is sweeping out of office Black college presidents who oppose plans to eliminate Black higher education in their respective states.

Dr. Peoples, who in 16 years has moved JSU from an also-ran into one of Mississippi's top universities, was blamed publicly for fiscal problems, but most Blacks believe his problems stem from his not appointing a White vice-president (to be groomed as president) and easing Jackson towards White administrative, then White majority control. Officially, the state College Board called it a new"urban mission --meaning it will be dominated by the "urban Whites of Jackson, Mississippi.

The legendary Mississippi N.A.A.C.P. President Dr. Aaron Henry, said the attacks on Dr. Peoples are the "result of a racist White controlled College Board. But if they think that they can get away with this, the JacksonState's riot of the past ain't nothing."

Dr. Peoples' case has attracted nationwide attention because of his stature and the possibility of a White succeeding him as president.

Potential Black successors to Dr. Peoples are being asked not to submit applications of cooperate with the earch committee (called "insidious" by a N.A.A.C.P. student leader) in order to aboid the appearance of being used to undermine TSU's president and the Black community.

But the super powerful 13-member College Board, referred to by Dr. Henry, was simply firing a shot over the bow of the Mississippi Black community when it announced that Dr. Peoples must step down at the end of the school year. These Whites, gleefully assisted by a Negro board member (the Jackson Advocate called him" a secret enemy of Black people" who took the leadership in firing Dr. Peoples) are now testing the depth of support for JSU's president.

how far the opposition N.A.A.C.P. Black politicianstans, the alumni association, faculty and students --- will let them. The pressure already generated by these groups for Peoples has forced a revision of the original game plan. All along, insiders report; the objective was a White president who would direct the university toward its How far they can go is really a matter of new "mission" as adopted by the Board -- the end of Black higher education inMississippi.

Of course, in this state, unlike all others, the College Board which oversees the operation of Mississippi's eight state universities, answers to no one. It meets mostly in closed executive sessions where it has made a series of increasingly controversial decisions (the new "mission" facade being the latest) and thumbs its nose at the politicians,press, alumni and the electorate (each member is appointed for long 12-year terms by rotating governors.)

But Black people are experts at fighting injustice -- even when it insulates itself in board roomsfrom public view. The Jackson Advocate, the state's major Black newspaper, has kept the heat on and the issue in the proper perspective i in a series of award-deserving reports and columns by Charles Tisdale, publisher, and Ivory Phillips. Then, of course, there is the mainstay of our civil rights struggle, the N.A.A.C.P., with legendary veterans such as Dr. Henry.

"This fall, Black students in Mississippi will t take up the armor of justice; and we are going to form a student movement to rocck Mississippi We will not be fooled by bourgoise politicians, " Thomas Fox, bright and able president of JSU's N.A.A.C.P. Chaper, said as he promised civil disobedience (in 1967 near riots rocked the campus) if the plan to oust Dr. Peoples goes through and White control becomes a reality. I told Fox that we would come from all over the country to aid the N.A.A.C.P. in whatever action it deems appropriate.

There is certainly no logical reason to force Dr. People out. He has been JSU's president for 16 yearss, why are his fiscal capabilities suddenly the issue? Did it take the Board 16 years to discover that he was a finanacial incompetent? Besides, if every college president with a fiscal problem and/or deficit were fired, there wouldn't be many around. Even after Peoples announced he had solved the problem, the Board, just a month later, revised the budget which created the appearance of a budget crisis

The White newspaper, the Jackson Daily News conceded: "Without a doubt, Peoples has done much for the university, and he has many supporters." He also recently received the National Alliance of Business' Presidential Citation for academic leadership. When he took over at JSU in 1967, there were 2,300 students, but by 1975 it soared to 7,800 only to decline by 1982 due to a national economic recession.

No, Dr. Peoples is not an incompetent, quite the contrary. So what is the problem? A sinister attempt to smear his reputation by innuendo by focusing on a self-inflicted budget crisis as a smoke-screen to dominate a Black university with White racism. Since Whites will not attend JSU because of a Black majority, the Board will turn it into a White school.

POLITICS AND MORALITY

When Senator Edward Kennedy spoke at the Moral Majority's Liberty Baptist College, he eloquently expressed the importance of tolerance and the neccessary limits of religion and politics.

I don't know if he changed many minds among his audience, but the very fact that he was invited is a hopeful sign that what we think of as the "far right" may edge toward the American mainstream.

Senator Kennedy attacked head on the connections made by the Moral Majority and other religiously- oriented right wing groups between morality and specific political issues.

For years we"ve been hearing that baacking the equal rights amendment, establishing a Federal Department of Education, and majority rule in South Africa, are immoral."

The Senator pointed out the absurity of this, and of the danger of turning honest political differences into religious conflicts.

In this, he follows a long line of prominent citizens who have spoken forceful against efforts of the far right to impose their version of "ayatollah" rule-- fitting almost every private and public issue into moral judgements bassed on their own particular religiously-inspired viewpoints.

One of the first was the Elder Statesman of Americn conservatives, SEnator Barry Goldwater who charged that the Moral Majority and similar groups "are trying to force governmet leaders into following their positions 100 percent.

Like Kennedy, Goldwater warned of the treat to the intergrity of the political process and objected to what he called "the threats of every religious group who thinks it has some God-granted right to control my vote on every roll-call in the Senate."

AS Goldwater rightly pointed out," the use of God's name on ones behalve should be used sparingly."

People can disagree about what national social and economic policies to follow, but it is mistaken to suggest that a government role in , for example, assisting the poor, is barred by religious precepts. nothing could be further from the truth.

AS Senator Kennedy said: "I believe that hte prophecy--'the poor you have always with you. is an indictment, not a commandment.

The intrusions of self-righteous, self appointed arbiters of morality into national decisions-making is not new.

Just as they were opposed in the past, so too must they be opposed today.

If such grpups abandon their extremist slurs on their oppents, public debate would take place on a higher plane, with idealds contending in the democratics marketplace instead if intolerant slanders.

WASHINGTON REPORT

UNITED STATES SENATOR SLADE GORTON

Airbags: the cost of safety

Almost 20,000 people will be killed this year in automobile accidents on American roads and highways. Another 3.5 million people will be injured in one or more of the 6.8 million car accidents which will be reported to the police. These are grim statistics, but Congress can act now to prevent their recurrence in future years.

The Automotive Safety Act (S. 1108) which will shortly be considered by the full Senate is a comprehensive, common sense but unfortunately controversial approach to improve automobile and highway safety.

The bill:

-reinstates the mandatory use of car bumpers able to withstand 5 mile per hour collisions.

-encourages States to raise the legal drinking age to 21.

-adds prohibitions to last year's drunk driving law against driving while under the influence of drugs.

-requires annual safety inspections and certification of commercial trucks.

-authorizes grants to states to encourage mandatory child restraints in cars.

The most controversial part of the bill, however, is the requirement that each automobile manufacturer offer airbags as an option in their most popular car lines by 1986.

Airbags are passive restraints, devices which protect automatically, without any action by driver or passenger. The automobile industry is generally opposed to this bill because these devices raise the price of cars. The industry also argues that the Automotive Safety Act is counter to the deregulation policies favored by both the Reagan Administration and many members of Congress.

I generally support the deregulation of American industry. But I also support this bill. If we could depend on the forces of the private marketplace to provide the best available safety features, automobile airbags would have been standard equipment years ago. Most new car buyers, however, are not thinking safety when they take that first test drive. Car makers know this. The fact is that auto makers concentrate their best efforts on what sells cars: performance, styling, gas mileage and cost. Airbags add nothing to the first three factors, but they could add $80 to $200 to the price of a new car.

These costs are miniscule, however, compared with National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that the current level of traffic injuries and fatalities will cost consumers $57 billion this year in increased insurance, medical, repair and other costs. Most insurance companies agree that mandatory use of airbags would significantly reduce car insurance rates. Even more important than costs, the NHTSA also says that airbags in cars will greatly reduce the number and severity of injuries and cut fatalities in half, saving the lives of almost 10,000 Americans in one year.

Still this is a controversial bill. I think it has only a 50-50 chance of getting through both houses of Congress and the Administration is opposed to it, which is unfortunate. If the NHTSA is only half right, then the cost of leaving airbags out of cars is far greater, both in human and economic terms than is the cost of putting them in. And it is these far greater costs which I believe we can no longer afford to pay.
